Product Datasheet

Product N0. : 10314499

Product type: Carbon Steel Hand tools

Made in: Italy

Description: The PC2050ME is an angled flush cutter. Its micro size (2mm thick) and its light and ergonomic line make it ideal for work in hard-to-access areas and for delicate work in electronics. In addition, its 50° angled head provides excellent visibility when used in either vertical or horizontal position. The cutters are equipped with an ESD and ergonomic handle which allows an excellent grip, suitable to environments and to components susceptible to electrostatic discharges.

Head description: Angled Micro, Shear
