

Spray smart.

3M™ Fastbond™ Water-Based Aerosol Spray Adhesives

Sustainability doesn't have to come with performance sacrifices. With emissions regulations around the world becoming increasingly stringent, you need industrial-strength spray adhesives that work — without harsh solvents. You need water-based aerosol adhesives from 3M.

A sustainable option.

The powerful bonding power you depend on is available in a water-based aerosol version. So you get the performance and productivity to meet your most demanding applications without solvents and with lower volatile organic compounds (VOCs).

With VOCs of 6% or lower, these adhesives can help support your regulatory compliance efforts and your company's environmental health and safety (EHS) goals.

These are the first aerosol spray adhesives made without flammable propellants and do not require specialized storage for flammables.

Smaller cans still contain more adhesive — so you waste less.

Your workers may be safer and more comfortable working with easy-to-use products that are also low-odor.
